

Celadon line Software House,

Адрес: Iris Bay tower 905, Business bay, Dubai, UAE.

Trade license number (NIP) 848179, VAT number:100499415600003 , +971554433588, celadon.ae

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Ms. Esen Tekkanat, who worked with our company. During the time we worked together, I had the opportunity to closely observe her professional skills, work ethic, and personal qualities.

Esen worked as a Software Developer and contributed to a wide range of software projects across web, mobile, and game development. Her responsibilities included developing and maintaining software solutions, implementing new features, resolving technical issues, and contributing to both frontend and backend development. In addition to software development, she participated in game design and development, UI/UX design, and software quality assurance activities. She also worked with automated testing tools, including Selenium, to help improve software reliability and ensure product quality. Throughout her work, she consistently demonstrated strong technical knowledge, versatility across multiple disciplines, a willingness to learn, and the ability to quickly adapt to new technologies, frameworks, and project requirements.

She possesses excellent problem-solving skills and approaches technical challenges with a logical, analytical, and solution-oriented mindset. She is capable of working independently while also collaborating effectively within multidisciplinary teams. Her communication with colleagues has always been clear and professional, and she consistently contributed valuable ideas during discussions, planning, and product development.

Esen has professional English communication skills, enabling her to work effectively in international environments and communicate confidently on both technical and professional matters.

Throughout her employment, Esen proved herself to be reliable, responsible, hardworking, and committed to delivering high-quality results. Her positive attitude, professionalism, adaptability, and continuous desire for improvement make her a valuable addition to any organization.

I have no hesitation in recommending Ms. Esen Tekkanat. I am confident that she will make a meaningful contribution wherever she chooses to continue her career.

Sincerely,

CTO Celadonsoft

Denis Kazak